BOUND FOR CANAAN.

"Ye see him not, yet believing ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory."—1 Petr. 1:8.

CHORUS.

1. O when shall I see Jesus, And reign with Him above,
   And from the flowing fountain Drink everlasting love.
   I'm on my way to Canaan, I'm on my way to Canaan,
   To the new Jerusalem.

2. When shall I be delivered from this vain world of sin,
   With my blessed Jesus, Drink endless pleasures to
   I'm on my way to Canaan, I'm on my way to Canaan,
   To the new Jerusalem.

3. But now I am a soldier, My Captain's gone before,
   He's given me my arms, And bids me not give o'er;
   I'm on my way to Canaan, I'm on my way to Canaan,
   To the new Jerusalem.

The original name of this song was "Evening Song." Rev. John Leland was born in 1754 and died in 1844. He was a Baptist preacher. In 1801 he took a preaching tour from his home in Massachusetts to Washington with his Cheshire cheese, which made his name national on account of that trip. He wrote his own hymns. He composed the hymn, "The Day is Passed and Gone, the Evening Shades Appear." The farmers of Cheshire, for whom he was particularly known, sent the biggest cheese in America to President Jefferson. Mr. Leland offered to go to Washington with an ox team with it and preach along the way, which he did. The cheese weighed 1,450 pounds. He died with great hope of rest in the glory world.

E. J. King made material changes in the tune, and rearranged it about the year 1844. He prepared it for "Sacred Harp."

None upon earth that I desire—save thee—Ps. Th. 25.

J. T. WHITE, 1844.

How tedious and tasteless the hours When Jesus no longer I see,
   Have lost all their sweetness to me.
   Have lost all their sweetness to me.
   Have lost all their sweetness to me.

Elisha James King composed "Bound for Canaan" in three parts (tenor, bass, and treble) and contributed the revival chorus to the 1844 first edition of The Sacred Harp. The song appeared on page 82, where it remained unchanged during successive nineteenth-century revisions of the tunebook. "Bound for Canaan" is a perennially popular song, often used to open all-day singings from The Sacred Harp.

John Leland authored five common meter double stanzas of this popular hymn in 1793.

Elisha James King was The Sacred Harp's "junior author," co-compiling the tunebook in 1844 with Benjamin Franklin White. He was born in 1821 in East Georgia to parents John King and Elizabeth Dubose. He moved with his parents to West Georgia's Talbot County in 1828. As a young adult, King farmed with his family and taught singing schools. In A Brief History of the Sacred Harp, Joseph Stephen James credits White with training King in music (129–30). King died on August 31, 1844, just after work on The Sacred Harp had been completed.

Wilson Marion Cooper added an alto part to “Bound for Canaan” in his 1902 revision of The Sacred Harp. This uncredited alto part, likely arranged by Seaborn McDaniel Denson, is nearly identical to Cooper’s alto.
